   八个毕业班积极筹备校友聚会
As Nanyang Technological University (NTU) celebrated the graduation of its Class of 2006, a record 6,500 graduates received their degree scrolls in 15 ceremonies at the Nanyang Auditorium from 24 to 28 July.

The Class of 2006 added much honour and prestige to our vast alumni network standing strong at 105,000 members. The first of NTU’s Convocation ceremonies saw the pioneer batch of Bachelor of Science graduands from NTU’s School of Biological Sciences (SBS).

Over the five day convocation period, graduates of 11 new higher degree programmes, including the Master of Science programmes in Technopreneurship and Innovation, Life Sciences and Digital Media Technology, received their degree scrolls.

Our heartiest congratulations to them and to the rest of the Class of 2006!

NTU President Dr Su Guaning announced at the first convocation ceremony that NTU will leverage its strengths in science and technology to emulate Massachusetts Institute of Technology’s (MIT) excellence and produce well-rounded global leaders in all fields.

“Among the three public universities in Singapore, we are the only science and technology university approximating MIT, whose excellence we want to emulate,” said Dr Su.

“We shall be educating well rounded graduates who will be leaders in their fields, be it engineering, science, business, politics, or economics. They shall be possessed of a strong never-say-die spirit, creative and entrepreneurial, drawing upon the university’s strengths as they develop their careers in the 21st century.”

“I look forward to working with the entire NTU community: alumni, students, faculty, administration, benefactors and supporters in this quest,” said Dr Su.

His Excellency, President S R Nathan presided at the first day of the ceremony. Other distinguished guests who attended the ceremony included Minister for Defence, Mr Teo Chee Hean, and Minister for Education and Second Minister for Finance, Mr Tharman Shanmugaratnam.

Mr Agus Harimurti Yudhoyono, son of the President of Indonesia, after receiving his Masters of Science (Strategic Studies) and President Nathan on the first day of Convocation.

A total of 1882 newly-qualified teachers received their diplomas. Minister for Education and Second Minister for Finance, Mr Tharman Shanmugaratnam was the guest of honour for the event.

“T”oday’s ceremony marks your formal entry to the ranks of full-fledged education professionals. You are now entrusted with the authority and responsibility of nurturing future generations with the skills, values and attitudes they will need to meet the future with confidence,” said Mr Shanmugaratnam at the NIE Teachers’ Investiture Ceremony, held at the Nanyang Auditorium from 11 to 13 July 2006.

“It is a challenging job. However you will find the work of a teacher not just challenging, but special. We all know it is not just about imparting knowledge to your young charges. It is really about engaging their hearts and minds - encouraging every young Singaporean on, and helping them each find their strengths and develop the desire to contribute to improving the society around them. And that is also why teachers are irreplaceable. It’s a truism, but worth saying - that no learning aids or resources can engage hearts and minds the way dedicated and committed teachers will do. And that is also why we will continue to do all we can to support our teachers in their efforts. I applaud you all for choosing teaching as a career.”

The inaugural NIE Award was presented to Mr Woo Jin Quan, Bachelor of Science (Education) programme, who has excelled in academic studies and service to the Institute’s community. During the first ceremony, a total of 430 teachers from the Bachelor of Arts (Education)/Science (Education) programmes, Diploma in Physical Education (Primary) and Postgraduate Diploma in Education (Physical Education) (Secondary) received their certificates from the Minister, who also presented the National Youth Council’s Outstanding Youth in Education Award to two recipients.

The second ceremony on 12 July witnessed 428 teachers receiving the Postgraduate Diploma in Education (Primary) certificates and 312 teachers receiving the Diploma in Art Education, Diploma in Chinese Language Education, Diploma in Education, Diploma in Home Economics Education and other diplomas. Postgraduate Diploma in Education (Secondary) certificates were presented to 712 teachers at the third ceremony on 13 July.

Mdm Cheleen Chua, HOD Special Projects at CHIJ St Nicholas Girls’ School (Secondary), strongly believes in being a catalyst and mentor in the development of both students and fellow teachers.

Cheleen consistently demonstrates a strong interest in knowing her students well. Through this, she is able to accurately identify avenues to further develop their potential. Cheleen is also passionate about playing an active role in her students’ character development, providing them with opportunities to collaborate with different racial groups in the community.

Cheleen has clearly proven her leadership ability as she connects and works effectively with students and staff. For her holistic approach to moulding the young and being the voice of both teachers and students, Mdm Cheleen Chua is awarded the OYEA 2006.

Miss Tracy Tan I-Lian, HOD English at Coral Secondary School, brings her positive energy and bubbly personality not only to enliven her classroom but also to build relationship with her colleagues. This lawyer-turned-teacher constantly engages them with her wit and pragmatic views.

Tracy’s creativity is evident in the many initiatives she is involved in that benefited both students and teachers. She is also keen to mentor new teachers.

For her creative approach to engage her students in learning and success in striking a balance between youthful idealism and practical realities, Miss Tracy Tan I-Lian is awarded the OYEA 2006.

NTU holds convocation in China to celebrate the graduation of its China-based graduates

A s convocation ceremonies go, the NTU’s Convocation in China held on June 17, 2006 at Beidaihe had the kind of pomp and circumstance few graduates, faculty and staff will ever forget.

There were academic regalia, bright lights, flashing cameras and fanfare that provided a historic backdrop to the event. It was a day in which friends and family come together to celebrate the graduates' accomplishments. Most of all, it was also a day the University saluted its highest achieving China-based graduates.

NTU is the first among the Singapore universities to hold a convocation abroad. The event marked the graduation of 190 from the Class of 2006. This China-based group includes the pioneer intake of the Master of Public Administration (MPA) programme, as well as graduands of NTU’s high-profile Master of Science in Managerial Economics programme and the Nanyang EMBA programme.

NTU Pro-Chancellor Mr Wee Cho Yaw presided at the ceremony. Past graduates of the two degree programmes also joined in the celebration.

NTU President Dr Su Guaning shares, “We are holding this ceremony in China to give our China-based graduates and their families the opportunity to experience an NTU convocation. These graduates from diverse backgrounds have persevered in their journey as lifelong learners and have excelled in their academic pursuits. They have done so while adapting to a new environment, to new experiences."

"We strongly believe that the knowledge and international outlook they have gained from our NTU education will help them further embark on major breakthroughs in their careers and make significant contributions towards the development of China and of collaborations between China and Singapore,” said Dr Su.

Present to congratulate and inspire the graduates was NTU Prominent China alumnus Ms Jiao Yang. Top MPA graduate Mr Xu Chengcang delivered his valedictory speech.

Reflecting on his studies at NTU, Mr Xu said, “It was an eye-opening experience, especially the visits to government departments.”
It’s a Grand Reunion!

On 17 June, some 500 alumni, new graduates, staff, faculty and family members spent a meaningful and memorable night in Qinhuangdao City, Beidaihe.

In what was the grandest event to be held in China to date, the dinner hosted by Mr Koh Boon Hwee, Chairman of NTU Board of Trustees and NTU President Dr Su Guaning, saw some 500 China-based alumni and friends networking with one another as they strengthen their ties with the University.

Mr Koh said during his welcome speech, “Today, NTU is well on its way to becoming a global university of excellence, known for its strengths in science and technology. We are committed to grooming top talent for Singapore, China, Asia and beyond. The university has recently been granted autonomy, and we are ever more committed to the pursuit of excellence.”

“We are proud of our global alumni, many of whom are high-achievers. They stay connected with the university in various ways. Some sit on admission interview panels; others on School Advisory Boards; and still others organise class activities to help fellow alumni stay in touch with the university. I hope you will continue to stay connected with NTU and your fellow alumni, and build on the close-knit network you have established.”

Dr Su added, “The alumni network is a critical component to our University’s development. We have after half a century, nurtured close to 100,000 graduates, of which approximately 5000 have come from China. The alumni are our University’s greatest intangible assets, reaching out to every social level, expanding NTU’s sphere of influence. Our strong communities of local and international alumni are contributing their valuable experience, bringing glory and honour to their alma mater and also working for the betterment of the society.”

The alumni representative, Mr Song Changrui, Party Secretary of the CPC Qinhuangdao City Committee, also gave his speech and shared his personal experiences and thoughts about his student life in NTU.

Guests at dinner were also treated to a talk by prolific economist, Professor Tan Kong Yam, Director of Asia Research Centre, NTU as he shared his inspiring insights on the new challenges and future trends facing China in the global economy. His topic on “China and world economics: Challenge, Conflicts and Future Directions” captivated the entire audience and was very well received.

The personal anecdotes, informative talks and rare opportunity to mingle with other alumni, staff and family proved memorable, as everyone left that night with smiles and in high-spirits. Many also asked for an encore of the night in the near future.

Former President Wee Kim Wee once said,

“Journalism has given me so much and more, allowing me to meet kings and emperors, famous Hollywood actors and actresses, taxi drivers and sweet potato sellers. This molded me into a diplomat without any training, and prepared me for the duties of Head of State that I performed without difficulty.”

Masagos Zulkifli
Class of 1988
Senior Parliamentary Secretary for Education,
Member of Parliament for Tampines GRC

A kampong boy from a humble family, Mr Masagos excelled in his studies and graduated from NTU with a First Class Honours in Electrical Engineering. He had been with SingTel since he graduated in 1988 and his most recent appointment was CEO of SingTel Global Offices.

Mr Masagos is no stranger to community work. Mr Masagos was the President of PERDAUS, a Malay Muslim grassroots organisation that provides educational services to the Muslim community. Mr Masagos also founded Mercy Relief in 2002 to contribute to communities beyond our shores.

At MOE, he is dedicated to helping students from low-income households; use of the Malay language; and strengthening racial harmony in schools. He has also served in various Governing Boards including the Islamic Religious Council, CISCO and Temasek Polytechnic.

My Aspirations: “Now that I have committed my life to public service in full, I intend to use my experience and skills to make a difference in the lives of others. I believe I can contribute to building a stronger bridge between the Malay Muslim society and the society at large, partake in building a better home security while at the same time use my life skills in helping to build Singapore’s advantage in international business or relations.”

Lee Bee Wah
Class of 1985
Member of Parliament for Ang Mo Kio GRC
Principal Partner, LBW Consultants LLP

The daughter of rubber tappers, Ms Lee Bee Wah came to Singapore with RM20 in her pocket. She paid her way through University by giving tuition and graduated from NTU in 1985 with a degree in Civil Engineering. Ms Lee has been actively involved in grassroots and social work. She also served as President of the NTU School of Civil and Environmental Engineering Alumni Association since its formation in 1998.

My Aspirations: “I hope to make a positive impact to the lives of children from the low-income group. I have gone through that path and I know how important education is to help someone get out of the poverty trap. My philosophy is to always do my best and stretch my limits in what I do and along the way, give someone a helping hand if possible. I can’t help everyone but as long as I can help some and make a positive difference in their lives, I will be happy.”

How education at NTU affects me: “I chose NTU because it was more practice-oriented and we could apply what we had learnt into real life. For example, we had to turn a low-end PC into a CAD system and build everything from scratch ourselves. We were made confident by the training. The electives we chose allowed us greater flexibility at work. I’ll always hold fond memories of NTU.”

Personal anecdote from varsity days: “There were only about six girls in my school when I enrolled. In my third or fourth year, they introduced the School of Accountancy into NTI. Obviously, many girls appeared on campus and many guys couldn’t study for a whole week!”

My motto in life: “One does not really have a reason to fail. You must not only succeed, you must excel. I went to University without any textbooks but I still passed my exams; you need to adjust your lifestyle to your available means.”

By Keith G Eming

How education at NTU affects me: “I did not want to be just a bookworm. I wanted to be active and to make friends. Fortunately, hostel life in NTU allowed for both and helped me develop confidence, self-reliance and discipline. As the first batch, we were driven by the pioneer spirit which brought us closer together.”

Fond memories of varsity days: “The lecturers were very caring and supportive, and bonded well with us on a social and recreational level. My Dean, Professor Chen Chiang Ning, knew I came from a poor family helped me obtain annual bursaries. These are memories from NTU I carry with me always.”

My motto in life: “When we drink water, we must know where the source is. Always think of your alma mater as the place that you have benefited from and you should give back to it in whatever way that we can.”

My Aspirations: “Now that I have committed my life to public service in full, I intend to use my experience and skills to make a difference in the lives of others. I believe I can contribute to building a stronger bridge between the Malay Muslim society and the society at large, partake in building a better home security while at the same time use my life skills in helping to build Singapore’s advantage in international business or relations.”

Passion for the Nation
How education at NTU affects me:

“It had benefited me immensely. Apart from studying, I participated in many CCAs. I’ve been able to keep a very balanced lifestyle which prepared me for working life. The accountancy courses were very analytical and the lecturers were great, they grilled me in my thought process. It is the last stage of preparation before you go into the real working world.”

Fond memories of varsity days:

“In my final year, we had interviews for jobs with the Big-6 accounting/auditing firms. My roommate and I shared a set of pants and suit as we were poor students. His interview was a day earlier. It was soaking wet when he returned because he had to do the diving test for his SIA interview to be an air steward! My interview was early next morning, and we spent the entire night ironing the pants and shirt dry. It was still damp when I wore it for my interview.”

My motto in life:

“To take on new challenges and not to be afraid. We must dare to explore the un-chartered territories. It is important not to look back and move forward. We must have a strong sense of purpose. Dare to challenge yourself and what you can do better, but always remember do your homework before embarking on a new venture.”

My Aspirations:

“I hope to make a difference to fellow Singaporeans in a positive way. In the process, I would like to contribute where possible to help Singapore be more competitive in future and create a better life for all Singaporeans.”
The Freshmen Welcome Ceremony opened the new academic year on a grand note. The light-up ceremony is one of the most memorable and respected traditions to induct our incoming freshmen and welcome them as part of the Nanyang family.

Started 3 years ago, NTU freshmen wore academic gowns to attend the Welcome Ceremony that included a light-up session, performances and speeches.

Light-up Ceremony

As the torches lit up, the dark auditorium transformed into a clear night filled with bright glittering stars. From torch to torch, the “flame of spirit” was passed, marking an official entry into NTU, as stars of tomorrow.

In his welcome speech, NTU President Dr Su Guaning said, “The University is where you begin to cut the cord that binds you to your parents, not that you should abandon them or your family, but to begin to fly on your own.”

The University’s award-winning a cappella and dance ensembles took the centre stage and showcased their talents. NTU alumnus – Mr Chang Long Jong, Deputy Group CEO (TV), Mediacorp Pte Ltd; Mr Teo Ser Luck, Parliamentary Secretary for Ministry of Community Development, Youth and Sports, Member of Parliament for Pasir Ris-Punggol GRC; and Ms Lim Joo Lee, who is the winner of 2001 Rhodes Scholarship and working as a business analyst at McKinsey & Company, were also present to enlighten the freshmen.

“NTU is one of the best technology universities in the region and ranked among world’s best,” said Le Khanh Vinh, who came to the University with two other good friends for its Electrical and Electronic Engineering programme.

“I feel anxious, nervous, excited of the new experience and challenges ahead. Like what the slogan says ‘Ready to Fly’, I’m ready to soar to the sky.” said Parvinder Singh, freshmen to the School of Chemical & Biomolecular Engineering.

Some 80 singing enthusiast alumni sang, ate and had fun with fellow graduates on 12 August at the NTU Alumni Club.

The graduates who attended ranged from Mr Chen Fu Yuan, who graduated in 1962 to Mr Nwachukwu Damien, a Nigerian national, from our most recent class of 2006. Damien who sang two of his self-composed songs, said that by coming for the karaoke, “it gives room for people to display their skills, to network and also to broaden our views.”

“A great event where everybody can hang around, show off their skills and most importantly to keep in touch with the old mates and the school”, said Mr Made Adi, a SCE graduate, Class of 2005.
校友忘年聚会
笑语伴歌声 聚首话当年

那一晚,与会校友不论是在余兴节目、卡拉OK,还是餐桌上的交流中,所挑起的南大岁月的许多封尘往事,又岂只这一桩?

此外,校友们当晚还在卡拉OK时段,发现当年在课堂上一板一眼上课的两位师长,原来也是深藏不露的唱歌高手!在两人的领导下,晚会献唱了好几首脍炙人口的旧韵,以歌声将与会同学再次带回旧日南大湖畔吉打伴歌声的学习岁月。

晚会就在大合唱 “朋友” 及“明天会更好”的歌声中落幕。离开南大校友俱乐部时,校友们不仅在礼堂的大合照中留下身影,心中留下了另一个美好的回忆,还带走了赞助商捐赠的纪念品和幸运抽奖得来的礼物。

Seminar on Will-making and Feng Shui

NTU’s first Will-making and Feng Shui seminar was held on 9 May at the Singapore Chinese Chamber of Commerce & Industry.

About 50 alumni and their family members attended the educational session given by senior lawyer, Mr Goh Peck San and Master Ang Kian Cheong who shared about Estate Planning and Feng Shui respectively.

During the first session, Mr Goh explained that writing a Will is simple and regardless of age, health or financial wealth, a Will is extremely important and beneficial to the family members and beneficiaries of the deceased. For the Feng Shui session, Master Ang, who has more than 30 years of experience in the ancient art of fengshui and Chinese astrology, shared his profound Feng Shui wisdom and imparted valuable tips on how to nurture good and avoid bad Feng Shui.

NTU Chinese Society Alumni
celebrate their 10th anniversary

The festivities included a stay-over at NTU’s Hall of Residence 2 and a mini-concert.

The two-day reunion camp from 27 to 28 May, took the Chinese Society alumni members on a nostalgic journey down memory lane, revisiting old hang-outs, reliving their former university days and reflecting on the accomplishments and changes of the society. More importantly, they were able to share their love for the society and the friendships with their families and loved ones, especially their children.

The mini-concert included performances by the current students from the Chinese Society, the alumni as well as their children! The hard work put in by everyone paid-off as the performance was a great success.

However, it was not the success of the performance that the participants (the alumni) savoured; it was the fond memories that they sought to relive and rejoice in.

As aptly put by one of the alumni, Kian Mong: “Life is not just about work and the future. Sometimes we need to stop and look back and recall what we had gone through, and enjoy every moment of those memories.”

The two-day reunion camp from 27 to 28 May, took the Chinese Society alumni members on a nostalgic journey down memory lane, revisiting old hang-outs, reliving their former university days and reflecting on the accomplishments and changes of the society. More importantly, they were able to share their love for the society and the friendships with their families and loved ones, especially their children.

The Technopreneurship and Innovation Program Alumni Association (TIPA) organised a fishing trip to a kelong in Malaysia during the weekend of 24 June, where participants were brought back to basics. It was in fact the simplicity of the life at the kelong that left the alumni and students appreciating their present lifestyle even more.

The trip was attended by close to 20 members including alumni and students and it took close to 3 hours for them to reach their leisure holiday destination. The speedboat ride to the kelong was an experience for the participants who enjoyed the waves splashing in. As it closed-up the ‘floating-huts’, their simple yet rich holiday began.

On 22 July 2006, about 120 alumni got together for a lip-smacking durian buffet, organised by the Alumni Affairs Office.

The group enjoyed a non-stop supply of durians and baskets of tropical fruits, at the durian plantation in Kulai. Later at the pineapple plantation, they were briefed on the different breeds of pineapples and the cloning methods used. To everyone’s delight, they were each given a pineapple as a souvenir! The trip ended with a boat-ride to the floating fish farms and a seafood dinner at Kukup.

It was an eventful trip as everyone indulged themselves in the food, sight and sound. Ms Yan Min Yan, a MAE alumni, praised, “The trip is good and I enjoyed the programme.”

Ms Nguyen Thanh Mai, an International English Administrator course alumni, said, “It’s an interesting trip. Through it, I’ve learnt more about the culture and people of Malaysia.”

The Alumni Affairs Office organised its inaugural Chill-Out Night for alumni on 9 June at posh downtown nightspot Bar Rouge. More than 80 alumni from different graduating classes were at the cheery two-hour event.

As incandescent lights filled the room with a warm, orangey glow, some attendees made themselves comfortable on plush sofas, engaging in tête-à-tête conversations while others busied themselves with food and drinks at the bar counter.

“This is great,” said Chew Bee Geok, alumna from the Class of 1977 who attended the event with three other good friends. Sharing a cozy settee and a few cube ottomans, Bee Geok and her friends joked about being the oldest batch of alumni present.

While enjoying one another’s company, it was also a reflective moment for some of them.

“arly want to thank my friends for their help all these years,” said Kelvin Chan, alumnus from the School of Mechanical & Aerospace Engineering, Class of 2006 and also the ‘organizer’ of the group. “Without them, I wouldn’t be here, I wouldn’t have graduated.” From classmates to best pals, the group stuck together through thick and thin, and encouraged one another along as they completed their five years of part-time education at NTU.

Bonds That Bind
CEE Graduates Celebrate

It was a rousing farewell and celebration for our graduates from the Class of 2006, School of Computer Engineering (SCE), on 7 July at YWCA Fort Canning Lodge. More than 200 graduates took time to meet up at this central location in town. Many academic staff members were also present to congratulate our graduates on this joyous occasion.

The school made special arrangements for the graduates to collect their transcripts, degree certificates, and convocation invitation cards, a gesture which was greatly appreciated. To quote one of our students, Abhinav Grag, “It was a great show and a large turn out. We enjoyed coming!” SCE Alumni Association (SCEAA) also offered a one-year free membership when these graduates signed up.

The highlight of the Graduates’ Evening was the launch of the new SCEAA website, a virtual platform for our fresh graduates to remain connected with the school and the rest of the SCE alumni family. Our Guest-of-Honour, Dean of SCE, Assoc Professor Seah Hock Soon, was invited to officially launch the website. Director of Alumni Affairs Office (AAO), Mr Soon Min Yam, also graced the event.

The students were more than game to participate in a dancing contest to flaunt their talents. The emcee of the night jazzed up the mood with his witty jibes and lively humour. Everybody left the Graduates’ Evening not only with good memories, but also in good faith that they will contribute to the alumni cause in future!

A Rousing Farewell
Reuniting SCE Graduates

At the close of the convocation ceremony held at the Nanyang Auditorium, the academic procession of the School of Civil and Environmental Engineering (CEE), led the invited guests, the graduates and their family members to the foyer of the School of Biological Science (SBS) for a memorable evening on 28 July 2006.

The SBS foyer was filled with the high spirit of some 1500 people who were warmly welcomed by Prof Pan Tso-Chien, Dean of CEE. President of NTU CEE Alumni Association (NCEEA), Ms Lee Bee Wah, also gave words of encouragement to the 500 strong graduates. Many graduates responded positively to the call to take up membership to join the NCEEA alumni association during the dinner.

The photography backdrops, a new initiative by the event organizer, were well sought after by the new CEE alumni to capture moments for posterity. Members of faculty, especially the Dean, were more than happy to pose with the graduates for the jubilant moments.

Our Guest-of-Honour, Dean of SCE, A/P Seah Hock Soon, is seated in the centre. Next to him is Director of AAO, Mr Soon Min Yam.

The 7th Annual NCEEA Fund Raising Golf Tournament on 19 July 2006 was a resounding success.

The day started with the arrival of the Guest-of-Honour, Dr Yaacob Ibrahim, Minister for the Environment and Water Resources and our special guests, Dr Su Guaning, President of NTU and Ms Lee Bee Wah, President of NTU CEE Alumni Association (NCEEA).

The beautiful weather made the game memorable while the invited guests, NCEEA members and friends enjoyed the evening with cold beer and good food.

Among the many guests present were Mr Anthony Teo, Secretary to the University, Prof Pan Tso-Chien, Dean of CEE, A/Prof Tor Yam Khoon, Sub-Dean of CEE (Alumni Relations), A/Prof Edmond Lo, Head of Environmental and Water Resources Engineering and Mr Soon Min Yam, Director of Alumni Affairs Office.

Dr Su and Prof Pan thanked NCEEA for their passion to the University and contributions to the CEE students. Dr Su also highlighted in his speech that NCEEA is one of the most active alumni groups in NTU and appreciated their efforts in bonding the alumni with the University, school and students.

Ms Lee Bee Wah announced that NCEEA will pledge a sum of up to $300,000 (after a dollar-to-dollar matching grant from MOE) to establish an endowment fund for the bursaries and book prizes for the CEE students. The sum will be collected from this golf tournament and future fund raising events.
Close to 200 students participated in two networking sessions held for students from various Chinese Executive Programmes on 1 June and 13 July at the Sports and Recreation Centre.

Aimed at fostering closer ties, the 3-in-1 sports competitions - basketball, badminton and table tennis, is organized by the Alumni Affairs Office (AAO) and supported by the Student Affairs Office, Nanyang Business School and School of Humanities and Social Sciences.

“The networking session is a great opportunity for participants to get to know the NTU campus and community”, said Mr Soon Min Yam, Director of the Alumni Affairs Office.

“We came to make new friends, to get to know each other better and to train up our physique,” said Mdm Zhou Yuenan, student from the Public Administration and Economic Management Training Programme for Senior Governmental Officials of Jiangxi Province.

Both evenings ended with a prize presentation ceremony and a relaxing dinner party.

EEE Graduates’ Evening 2006

The arrival of the first guest an hour ahead of the stated time, was a pleasant surprise. While waiting, they took the opportunity to catch up with one another. Guest-of-Honour, Prof Er Meng Hwa, Acting Provost, Prof Kam Chan Hin, invited professors and staff also interacted in the VIP reception room. The guests were shown a special presentation of EEE events to remind them of shared times and experiences.

The evening kicked off with an opening address by the chairperson of the organizing committee, Mr Her Hanxiang. There was much laughter in the room as he recalled experiences that graduates could identify with, such as ‘booking’ seats in the library during the run-up to the examinations and freezing in the unforgettable chill of the examination halls.

The crowd was spontaneous and everyone enjoyed themselves. The highlight of the night’s program was a segment titled “You’re the One”, where six males and six females were chosen by the guests and paired up to entertain the audience with a performance. Another item that caught everyone’s attention was the lucky draw segment.

As the evening drew to a close, everyone felt a strong bond to the big EEE family. Perhaps this is what school is about – bonds that bind and memories etched forever in the hearts and minds of its members. And as the lights dimmed in the ballroom, there was a tinge of sadness in the air. Despite that, it was heartwarming to see the smiles on graduates’ faces as they took their last photos for the evening.

This year’s event was unique as it was a by students for students event. The response was so good that many students had to be turned away due to limited seats. It also showed the strong relationships EEE students had built over the years in NTU.

EEE Graduates’ Evening 2006 – for many of us, it was a night to remember for many years to come.

The School of Materials Science & Engineering held 2 graduation events for its most recent batch of graduates.

The first was the annual Graduate’s Night held on 22 July at the spanking new NTU Alumni Club @ One North. Organized by the MSE Alumni Club, Prof Freddy Boey, Dean of MSE, congratulated the graduating class and welcomed them as alumni and friends.

The other event was the MSE Convocation Celebration, held immediately after the convocation ceremony on 28 July. The graduates were treated to a special music performance by the MSE staff, with the Dean, Prof Boey, playing the guitar. Besides the refreshments, the graduates were given complimentary vouchers for photo-shoots. The response was overwhelming!

Besides taking pictures, the graduates also took time to thank their professors. Most of them also brought their parents to the MSE premises, showing them where they have spent their time in school. Some proceeded to the laboratories where they did their final year projects. The lab staff members were happy to welcome them back for a memorable photo session together. Certainly, this special day held lots of sweet memories as they looked back at their most fruitful time spent at MSE.

The Nanyang Business School’s inaugural convocation ball ended with a bang at the classy Fullerton Hotel on the 29 July.

The night provided the 350 graduands a chance to catch up, take photos and enjoy each’s company for the final time before they enter the working world. The graduands wasted no time snapping up pictures with any familiar faces they could get hold of and many even neglected the delicious 5-star delicacies waiting at their tables.

Laughter resounded the ballroom as many reminisced the good-old-days of the NBS orientation camp three years ago, the once-torturous tutorials, projects, lectures, FYPs as well as graduation trips. 3 years of undergrad life has ended and many will miss the times, where they would chit-chat over lunch at Canteen B and spending countless amounts of time and effort on projects.

After four years of hard work, lectures, tutorials, mugging and late nights, it’s time to party. And party, they did!

A Toast to Friendship & Graduation!

Held at the Conrad Centennial on the 28 August, it was attended by an unprecedented number of graduates this year. Professors and MAE alumni joined the graduates in their celebration—making a ruckus as teams compete for party prizes and danced the hokey pokey.

Screams and laughter, joy and tears, smile filled photos with friends and lecturers are the hallmarks of a great graduation party.

T\hemed “Poised to Soar”, it signifies the optimism and confidence held by the graduates of the School of Mechanical & Aerospace Engineering.

The planning and execution of the event can be viewed as a 2-gear mechanical system. The committee members represented the teeth on the gear that contributed to the smooth running of the whole gear system. Asst Prof Chui Yoon Ping and Asst Prof David Lee Butler who advised the committee formed the other gear. Brainstorming of ideas and a common goal of organizing a fantastic party are the main driving lubricants. Both gears worked together simultaneously and synergistically and the output - an incredibly fun-filled and triumphant event.

The night provided the 350 graduands a chance to catch up, take photos and enjoy each’s company for the final time before they enter the working world. The graduands wasted no time snapping up pictures with any familiar faces they could get hold of and many even neglected the delicious 5-star delicacies waiting at their tables.

Laughter resounded the ballroom as many reminisced the good-old-days of the NBS orientation camp three years ago, the once-torturous tutorials, projects, lectures, FYPs as well as graduation trips. 3 years of undergrad life has ended and many will miss the times, where they would chit-chat over lunch at Canteen B and spending countless amounts of time and effort on projects.

Held at the Conrad Centennial on the 28 August, it was attended by an unprecedented number of graduates this year. Professors and MAE alumni joined the graduates in their celebration—making a ruckus as teams compete for party prizes and danced the hokey pokey.

Screams and laughter, joy and tears, smile filled photos with friends and lecturers are the hallmarks of a great graduation party.

You don’t stop being part of the Nanyang family when you graduate. One of the greatest strengths of our University is the all pervasive ‘family spirit’ and camaraderie that exists amongst the members of the Nanyang community. We may move away; but, class friendships stay with us for a very long time.

Class Agents are key volunteers who ensure their classes remain active and vibrant long after graduation by helping to organize class reunion festivities, identifying and recruiting volunteers, and promoting events of interest to alumni. They are also responsible for maintaining a current class list and recording class notes for inclusion in NTULink, the University’s alumni magazine.

Class Agents serve as liaisons between the University and their class, keeping classmates connected to one another and to the University community. As active alumni are crucial to the success of the University, the Alumni Affairs Office is actively seeking alumni to serve as Class Agents. If you are interested or would like to nominate a fellow classmate, please contact Christine at (+65) 6790 6768 /christinechua@ntu.edu.sg or Belle at (+65) 6790 6557 / JLNg@ntu.edu.sg .

“Let us all keep in touch and stay connected with our alma mater. I am sure many of our alumni will be willing to do so. So come forward and I am sure we can do it!” - Cheah-Khoo Sait Poh (Commerce, Class Agent of 1971).

“The Class Agent Programme is a great initiative to retain friendships and bonds that we have made with our batch of graduates. As we move on in life towards achieving our dreams, it is always wonderful to keep our nostalgic memories with us. I remember those times we had rushing to tutorials, nights of presentation preparations, and numerous study sessions together. So let’s join the programme and keep those memories alive!!” - Paul Lee (Nanyang Business School, Class Agent of 2004)

He says, “As we mature and build our careers and family life, we often look back with fondness at our days on campus...the friends, the lecturers, the hostel and the fun we had. This is an opportunity for me to play an active part in getting people I spent important years with, together again. To renew ties, to network and to re-build bonds that we strongly once.”

Tan Puay Tong (MAE, 1986) Those who graduated in the 1980’s might like to know that there is chatroom, http://groups.yahoo.com/group/singaporedaze/. Join in and see your familiar friends there. We do try to meet on a regular basis.

Jacqueline Gan (EEE, 1997) “Ong Wee Ling & Ong Chui Ling are my close buddies at NTU. They were also invited to my wedding reception in early 2001 but since then we lost touch. Often I look back at my ROM pictures and wondered what has happened to them.

Michael Chan (NIE/SPE, 1999) “I’ve been teaching at the Xuhui campus of the Shanghai Singapore International School for more than 2 years (I’m coming to my 3rd summer here!). Linda Lee (SCS/2000) “When I’m not spinning stories and reviews about lifestyle subjects for the nation’s leading newspaper, I’m jamming away with MoodSwings, my Jazz band. Consisting of vocals (myself), guitar and sax, the set-up makes for... breezy listening with a contemporary groove. Check out my trio at www.MOODSWINGS.homecall.co.uk!"

Andy Chan aka ‘Patterman’ (EEE, 2002)
Currently an engineer, Andy enjoys badminton, jogging, bowling, singing Karaoke, playing Mahjong, going to the movies and traveling. He says, “Life in the University is fun and interesting. He also shares similar hobbies like badminton, bowling, singing Karaoke and playing Mahjong with good friends Andy Chan. He says, “Time really flies. I have already graduated from NTU for 4 years. I really treasured my year 4 in NTU. I still remembered the times when a group of us studied together in Canteen B. We are still in contact. Personally, I missed Canteen 1’s fish porridges. Is the stall still there?”

Fu Xiaofang (NBS, 2004)

VIVA NTU.....GO GO GO! Give me a ‘N’. Give me a ‘T’. Give me ‘U’. NTU, NTU, NTU. I love NTU. NTU love me. We are one happy family.”

Jevon Chua (EEE, 2006)
"After four years in NTU, I finally graduated. I have met many friends and learnt a lot from them. There are many ups and downs through these four years. I am now out into the market and many challenges awaits. I congratulate the graduating class of 2006 and wish everyone the best in their endeavors!"

Mr Nwachukwu Damien (IDSS, 2006)

“20 years have passed so fast and there is an aching feeling in some corner of the heart that missed our friends from some the happiest days of our lives. We can never recreate it or go back in time, but to temporarily forget about the space and dimensions, and let the nostalgia overwhelm us, wouldn’t that be great? Even if it is day or two, or even a few hours, to gather and be carefree and make pretend, to speak without reservations, to chill out without pressures, to laugh without our titles or to associate once again without fear or favor, I will work for it.”

PT Tan, alumnus from School of Mechanical and Production Engineering, Class of 1986.

“I am very excited to be part of this reunion planning process and am looking forward to a good time after so many years! It will be a chance to meet up with my former classmates from the Class of 1991, and share the progress of everybody’s lives and careers!”

Patrick Chong, alumnus from School of Electrical & Electronic Engineering, Class of 1991.

“I feel that having this reunion is of value to our cohort from the Class of 1996. Many thanks to NTU’s Alumni Affairs Office and I hope to see more of my classmates getting together for this 10th anniversary reunion!”

Teo Pey Ching, alumnus from School of Electrical & Electronic Engineering, Class of 1996.

Please contact Christine at 67906768 or Belle at 67906557 if you would like to join us in our effort to connect alumni together.
