Whether one was here as part of Nantah, NTI, NIE or NTU, this is the place where over 50 years of history and memories are formed.

Memories for over a hundred thousand people, who have moved on to make their own history, distinguishing themselves in life and at work.

But like water, which can take on so many different forms, and travel to so many different places, every graduate that has left our gates is connected to the same source, via the alumni network.
Nanyang University (Nantah), the first Chinese-language university in Southeast Asia, is established through donations from people of all walks of life, from Singapore and the region. Prime land donated by the Hokkien Huay Kuan, a clan association, is developed as the Yunnan Garden campus.

Nanyang Technological Institute (NTI) is set up on the premises of the former Nanyang University, to develop practice-oriented engineers for the burgeoning Singapore economy.

1991

NTI becomes Nanyang Technological University (NTU) with the absorption of the National Institute of Education, which becomes an autonomous institute of NTU.

1996

The alumni rolls of the former Nanyang University are transferred to NTU.

The history of our University
2005
NTU celebrates its 50th anniversary, unifying alumni from the various chapters of its heritage — Nanyang University, NTI and NTU.

2006
NTU turns autonomous and a Board of Trustees is appointed. Greater operational autonomy gives NTU added ballast to advance as a great global university founded on science and technology.

2007
NTU@one-north campus and the NTU Alumni Clubhouse officially open. NTU unveils plans to set up a graduate school, which will focus on bio-engineering research, and boost NTU’s collaboration with the area’s research institutions.
“Alumni play an important role in propelling the University to greater heights. Your achievements reflect the quality education that you had received. You are key stakeholders and play an important role in helping your alma mater nurture creative and entrepreneurial leaders through a broad education in diverse disciplines. Your contributions to the university will go a long way to helping the University provide a better education for future generations.”

DR SU GUANING
PRESIDENT, NTU
Alumni & Development Committee

In 2006, the Alumni & Development Committee (ADC), a standing committee of NTU’s Board of Trustees, was established to provide leadership and directly support NTU in its advancement by engaging and forging relationships with its alumni, donors and other external constituencies. The ADC also provides oversight and policy guidance with respect to NTU’s alumni affairs, philanthropic activities and related external relation matters. It communicates with the NTU Board of Trustees on the progress made in alumni affairs development, philanthropic efforts and external relations.

The committee meets regularly with senior staff members of NTU.

Mr Anthony Teo, Secretary to the University, addresses our commonwealth of alumni

Great universities have great alumni. Albert Einstein remembered fondly his years at Princeton. Nobel Laureate CN Yang, an external examiner and mentor to many alumni, was from National Southwestern Association University in China and Princeton.

As Shakespeare once wrote, “Some men are born great, some achieve greatness, and some have greatness thrust upon them”. Likewise, great alumni achieve greatness. They invest in lifelong learning, transform themselves and others. They are an inspiration to all and to the alma mater.

And we are proud to have our very own inspirational alumni, from pioneer graduand Professor CC Liew, Head of the Cardiovascular Unit at Harvard Medical School; former Senior Minister of State Ch’ng Jit Koon who led the Fundraising Committee for the NTU 21st Century Fund; Inderjit Singh, one of Singapore’s foremost champions of entrepreneurship; veteran marksman Lee Wung Yew; pop superstar Stefanie Sun, to Member of Parliament Zaqy Mohamad. These distinguished individuals form part of our 113,000-strong Nanyang commonwealth of alumni, made up of graduates from multiple generations and spanning some 90 countries. Together, we are a tightly knit network.

Professor Iansiti of Harvard Business School caused many to rethink networks. These are as applicable to networks of alumni. It is through the power of creating “keystone advantage” that taps into the new dynamics of alumni ecosystems that can bring about self-sustaining alumni networks and cells from Singapore to China to India and more.

We nurture these networks and cells to develop symbiotic relationships with each other and with the alma mater to form the power of the commonwealth of alumni. This commonwealth enriches each and everyone. The commonwealth of alumni that plays, learns and discovers together, stays together. That is the lifelong journey of alumni.

And in our commonwealth, there are many avenues of service to the alma mater, fellow alumni and society. As we aspire to go beyond service above self, let’s remember Plato’s advice, “Good actions give strength to ourselves and inspire good actions in others.”
NTU Alumni Affairs Office

Our vision and mission

A great global university founded on science and technology with excellent alumni relations
Serving and connecting our alumni, enhancing their lives and engaging them in achieving the University’s vision

Our objectives

• Establish and strengthen a long-standing relationship between the University and our alumni
• Keep all alumni regularly informed on the policies, progress and development of the University
• Engage our alumni in the continuing development of the University
• Develop a strong University community comprising alumni, students, faculty and administration
Ambassadors with a passion

The Alumni Affairs Office (AAO) of NTU serves as a link between the alumni and the University.

We believe that the student’s relationship with NTU does not end upon graduation, but rather, it takes on a whole new level. Our purpose is to foster the present and future alumni of NTU together into a close network of peers.

At the AAO, alumni come first. We provide the best opportunity to keep the relationship between graduates and the University alive and offer a platform for alumni to form new and meaningful relationships with others in the network.

No membership fee is required; the AAO is not an alumni club. Students from NTU, NIE and any of the predecessor institutions become members of our alumni family upon graduation.

Stay connected. Network with fellow alumni and keep abreast of the development of the University.

At the AAO, relationship matters.
Working together to cultivate alumni relations: Mr Anthony Teo, Mr Soon Min Yam and the rest of the AAO team.

■ The Communications unit builds rapport between alumni and the University via diverse means of communication.

■ The Events unit organises activities that engage students and alumni and strengthen their bonds with the University.

■ The Global Alumni Network unit nurtures close ties with alumni through the establishment of local and overseas alumni chapters.

■ The Information Management unit employs technology to keep the alumni database current so as to facilitate interactions with alumni.
Communications

With technology, the frequency of staying in touch has increased. Because we tap on our past to build the future, we constantly keep our alumni informed and involved in the continuing development of the University. Metamorphosing students into alumni

At the AAO, we nurture strong relations with students by supporting events organised by student organisations, kindling students’ interest in alumni activities and grooming them to be the next generation of alumni leaders.
Overseas Connections

It’s never too far, nor are we ever too busy, to stay in touch. We connect with our alumni, even as they leave our shores. Like a sower, we plant overseas alumni chapters, maintaining close ties with our alumni wherever they go. And wherever we go, the NTU spirit follows…
Our increasingly global alumni

NTU alumni are everywhere – building, leading and making a difference. As one of Singapore’s education provider of the highest standards in undergraduate and postgraduate programmes, members of the NTU alumni family can be found all over the globe. The AAO reaches out to this global alumni network, via widespread overseas chapters.

With more than 113,000 members worldwide, our alumni forge vital and dynamic connections across diverse communities. Membership in this influential and distinguished community is transformational, both personally and professionally.
The AAO provides and manages a host of exclusive privileges and services for our alumni. These are some of the ever-expanding range of benefits for our alumni:

Besides the tangible benefits we offer, we believe that the true value the AAO provides is in keeping alumni close and connected, with a camaraderie that spans the world. This in itself is invaluable.
Inspiring Contributions

This is our community, and everyone can make a difference. There is never any act too small or too insignificant.

Every act effects change and every effort adds up…
The AAO thanks all alumni who have dedicated substantial portions of their time, effort, talent and even wealth to NTU’s worthwhile causes. We recognise and salute the contributions of these individuals in building and sustaining the NTU community.

Saluting those who volunteer to help

Class agents keep the NTU spirit alive by volunteering to keep their former classmates connected. They maintain an up-to-date contact list and inform and promote events of interest to their class. Their role in maintaining and strengthening our alumni community is vital. We welcome you to join this circle of friends.
Saluting those who serve in other capacities

Alumni volunteer to stay connected with their alma mater in many other ways, contributing their time and talent.

- Help out at NTU and AAO events
- Be a guest speaker
- Sit on admission and scholarship interview panels
- Serve on school advisory boards
- Volunteer as committee members of alumni clubs or associations
- Support NTU student clubs
- Refer a potential student to NTU
- Provide job referrals and internship placements for students
Saluting those who give

NTU alumni remember their roots. Whatever the size of their gifts from the heart, alumni donors have played a significant part in upholding the quality of education at NTU and cultivating a spirit of philanthropy in the Nanyang family. With our heartfelt gratitude, we salute these and all the other members of the NTU alumni family who have supported the school.

Annual support from alumni allows us to uphold the University’s commitment towards:

- High-quality education at affordable prices
- Scholarships and bursaries for deserving students
- Leadership learning through residential living
- Extraordinary learning experiences with eminent faculty and visiting professors like Nobel Laureates who enrich and inspire our students

You have the option to exercise your philanthropic interest by indicating how you would like your donation to benefit the University community. To find out more on how you can contribute, visit www.ntu.edu.sg/DO.
Nanyang Alumni Awards

Our distinguished alumni...

Individuals who have contributed significantly to their professions and society, and have furthered the interests of their alma mater...
With a history of over 50 years, more than 113,000 men and women have walked through the doors of the University as graduates. Many have evolved into professionals and leaders in various fields. Others have made their mark overseas. Yet from the many stories that history tells of these distinguished ladies and gentlemen, there remains a common ground: they are all members of the NTU alumni family.

To applaud our alumni who have rendered outstanding service and contributed in furthering the interests of the University and its alumni, the Alumni Service Award was set up in 1996. In 2005, the Nanyang Alumni Awards was launched in commemoration of our golden jubilee. The awards are conferred on alumni who have either attained exemplary achievements in their field of specialisation nationally, regionally or internationally, or have contributed significantly to the betterment of the University, the community or the society at large.
The Nanyang Distinguished Alumni Award
