Prime Minister Lee Hsien Loong visited the Youth Olympic Village yesterday and sampled first-hand the atmosphere and buzz there. During his two-hour visit, Mr Lee toured the Village Square, where the booths of all 204 National Olympic Committees were as part of the Games' Culture and Education Programme, and even tried his hand at the Poi, a circus art originating from Hawaii.

Mr Lee also visited the Olympic Gallery and had a quick snack with some of the volunteers before dropping by the Residential Zone.
