Abstract:

In this talk I will briefly review current status of determination of parton distributions (PDFs) in QCD global analysis. I will focus on impact of LHC data on PDFs as well as implications to precision measurements and searches of new physics beyond the standard model. Projection from future experiments will also be discussed.