Children's Literature: Texts, Theories, Contexts

DESCRIPTION

This course explores shifting attitudes towards childhood, children's literature, and their attendant critical and theoretical discourses from the nineteenth century to the present. From Lewis Carroll's Alice books, which heralded a new "Golden Age" of children's literature, to twentieth- and twenty-first-century novels, picture books, comic songs, and anime, students will consider a variety of different texts and the notions of childhood they reflect and generate. What linguistic and narrative strategies do adult writers, illustrators, and filmmakers draw on in their attempts to speak to, and for, young audiences? What assumptions do we, as adults, bring to our encounters with children's texts? Using Philip Nel and Lissa Paul's Keywords for Children's Literature (2011), students will develop the critical vocabulary necessary to discuss children's fiction, poetry, and film in its aesthetic, ideological, and historical contexts. Students will also cultivate a strong theoretical framework for the study of children's literature by engaging with field-defining scholarship.

REQUIRED TEXTS

- ▶ Frances Hodgson Burnett, The Secret Garden. London: Penguin Classics, 2013.
- ▶ Guojing, The Only Child. New York: Schwartz & Wade Books, 2015.
- ▶ Jihyeon Lee, Door. San Francisco: Chronicle Books, 2018.
- ▶ Roald Dahl, Matilda. New York: Puffin Books, 2007.
- ▶ Michael Ende, The Neverending Story. Trans. Ralph Manheim. London, Puffin Books, 1997.
- ▶ Lewis Carroll, Alice's Adventures in Wonderland and Through the Looking-Glass. London: Penguin Classics, 2008.

HOW DO I ACCESS THE ASSIGNED READINGS?

The Required Readings are available to purchase in the NTU Bookstore. Many of our primary texts (such as the Alice books) are freely available online. The picture books from Weeks 5 and 6 are available in the Library Outpost. Readings by A. A. Milne and Shel Silverstein will be posted on NTULearn.

Most of the secondary readings are taken from Keywords for Children's Literature, eds. Philip Nel and Lissa Paul (New York: New York University Press, 2011), available as an ebook via the NTU Library Catalogue. All other assigned secondary readings are available via NTULearn.

ASSESSMENTS

- ▶ Participation: 15%
- ▶ Paper Proposal: 10%
- ▶ Term Paper: 25%
- ▶ Final Exam: 50%

Please refer to the Assessments Handout on NTULearn for further details concerning the assessments.

DEADLINES AND LATE PENALTIES

The Paper Proposal is due on Wednesday, September 15th. There are two deadlines for the Term Paper. Students who wish to receive written feedback must submit their work by Monday, November 15th. Students who decide to submit their work on the second deadline, Monday, November 22nd, will not receive written feedback. Because there are two deadlines, there will be no extensions. Work submitted after Monday, November 22nd will be penalised one half-mark per day late (an A paper submitted one day late would drop to an A-, etc.). Late work will only be accepted within 48 hours of the second deadline.
