

HL 4019: Advanced Studies in Victorian
Literature

Theme : The Nineteenth-Century Novel

Please note that you will be reading six (6 !) nineteenth-century novels. You may think of starting with Bleak House early.

We will start with Austen's Persuasion, followed by Bleak House, which is the lengthiest and most complex text on the course.

Happy Reading !

Primary Texts :

Jane Austen, Persuasion
Wilkie Collins, Hide and Seek
Charles Dickens, Bleak House
Elizabeth Gaskell, North and South
Anthony Trollope, The Warden
Mrs Henry Wood, East Lynne

Please note that this course is 100 % CA (Continuous Assessment)

You will be working towards a lengthy research paper, learning how to undertake research, to develop an argument, to formulate an abstract, to put together an annotated bibliography, and to write up your research.

Each student will produce a poster for the poster presentations. These posters will be shared online this semester.

Please note:

This course aims to teach students advanced research and writing skills that will allow them to explore Victorian literature critically and analytically.

The students in this class should already have a good foundation in Victorian studies and be prepared to work on more extensive research projects.

Approximate Breakdown:

Lengthy Research Paper, including Abstract 50%:

This is a research project on which you will be working throughout the semester. You will choose a topic based on our core primary texts and develop your own argument.

This component also includes participation during the abstract workshop.

Annotated Bibliography 20%:

Putting together an annotated bibliography will help you practice conducting research, sorting the material, and extracting what is relevant to a specific research project. You will be compiling an annotated bibliography for a specific research project in Victorian studies. You will need to decide what the relevant primary and secondary materials are, locate and read them, and learn to summarise both what these works' main arguments and their significance for the specific research project are. Simultaneously, this task will require you to use a style manual correctly and consistently. The subsequent assessments build on these research skills.

Poster 20%:

You will present your research topic in an engaging manner on during a poster presentation.
