Course Code & Title	:	HL 4034 British-Asian Literature
Academic Unit	:	4 AU
Co-requisite	:	HL101

Course Description

This course will examine some of the narratives that dominate but also transcend the field of British-Asian literature. We look at how writers depict double-consciousness, how they negotiate subject positions within and between different socio-cultural traditions/formations. We also look at how authors try to escape the perennial absorptionism versus enclavism debate that constrains “minority writing.” How minority cultural production unsettles an assumed homology between race, culture and nation will be examined, as well as the sense in which British-Asian writing widens the cultural and semantic parameters of “Britishness.” At the same time, contemporaneous issues such as “post-nationalism” and “super-diversity” will also be addressed. Links with postcolonial studies and globalization studies will be made where appropriate.

Learning Objectives

1. Students will read five novels in the area and utilize close reading skills to discuss issues raised by the texts. Major writers in the field will be covered.
2. Students will engage with and debate some of the topics raised, viz.:
general features of minority / diasporic / exilic writing,
cultural syncretism and relativism,
metropolitan reception of minority / migrant writing.
Orientalism / exoticism versus cultural contact / re-imagination.
