

NTU-CEC Joint Online Workshop

November 13-14, 2021

Day 1-Saturday, 13 November 2021

Opening Address

8.40-9.00

FENG Qu, Head of Department of Economics,
School of Social Sciences, Nanyang Technological University

ZHENG Shilin, Professor, Institute of Quantitative and Technological Economics, Chinese Academy of Social Sciences

Session 1: Behavioral and Experimental Economic

9.00 -10.40

Session Chair: ZOU Wenbo

1. Individual Investors' Trading Behavior and
Gender Difference in Tolerance of Sex Crimes:
Evidence from a Natural Experiment
YANG Chloe Chunliu (Fudan University)

2. The Effect of Identity Disclosure on Trust
Behavior: Evidence from An Online Experiment
on WeChat
LI Yupeng (Nanyang Technological University)

3. Heterogeneous Mindsets of Social Pressure:
Distribution and Stability
CHEN Yiting (National University of Singapore)

4. Risk as Excuses to Postpone Effort-provision
ZOU Wenbo (Nankai University)

Session 2: Asian Economy

10.50 -12.30

Session Chair: HUANG Naqun

1. Regional Convergence or Just An Illusion?
Place-based Land Policy and Spatial Misallocation
HUANG Zibin (Rochester)

2. Employment and Credit Allocation: the
Evidence from China Stimulus Policy
HOU Hongchang (Central University of Finance and Economics)

3. Environmental Regulation and Employment in Industrial Enterprises: Evidence from the Eleventh Five-Year Plan in China
LIAO Jiaqi (Jinan University)

4. The Impact of Transaction Taxes on Residential Property Prices in Singapore HUANG Naqun (Nanjing Audit University)

Session 3: Macroeconomics

14.30-16.10

Session Chair: YANG Yujie

1. Government Spending Multipliers with the Real Cost Channel
NIE He (National University of Singapore)

2. Industrial Policy and Export Quality: Evidence from China
DU Guorong (University of Chinese Academy of Social Science)

3. Currency Appreciation and Productivity: Evidence from China's Exchange Rate Regime Reform in 2005
GAO Yameng (Central University of Finance and Economics)

4. Two Country HANK and Trade Friction
YANG Yujie (Xi'an Jiaotong University)

Session 4: FinTech

16.20-18.00

Session Chair: ZUO Zhengyu

1. Political Connections, Environmental Violations and Punishment: Evidence from Heavily Polluting Firms in China
WANG Jingjing (University of Liverpool)

2. It Depends Who You Ask: Context Effects in the Perception of Stock Returns
GUO Junyang (University of Warwick)

3. The Investment Decision of Rural Hospitals under Different Refined Diagnosis-Related Groups (DRG) Payment Systems
GUO Xidong (University College Dublin)

4. The effect of air pollution on IPO reviews in China
ZUO Zhengyu (Renmin University of China)

Day 2-Sunday, 14 November 2021

Session 1: Behavioral and Experimental Economics

9.00 -10.15

Session Chair: LU Yunfeng

1. Incentive Scheme to Motivate Exploratory Behaviors in a Competitive Setting: Evidence from a laboratory experiment
LIU Fang (Nanyang Technological University)

2. Bystander of Sandstorm: Psychological Effect of Public Opinion on Environmental Events
LIU Chenhao (Peking University)

3. Household water consumption in high-rise buildings: Evidence from one million households in Singapore
LU Yunfeng (Nanjing University)

Session 2: Environmental Economics

10.25 -12.05

Session Chair: DU Rui

1. The Causal Effect on Green TFP of Carbon Emission Trading Scheme in Natural Monopoly Industry: Green Scale efficiency or Technological Progress?
WANG Jin-li (Capital University of Economics and Business)

2. Does High-Speed Rail Improve Air Quality alongside Intercity Highways?
TRAN Trang My (Monash University, Malaysia)

3. Environmental Amenities and Economic Agglomeration
RAO Deyu (Cornell University)

4. Who Benefits from Water Quality Control? Environmental Regulation, Housing Wealth, and Consumption Inequality
DU Rui (Oklahoma State University)

Closing Remarks

Program Committee (Alphabetical Order)

Te Bao, Nanyang Technological University

Wai Mun Chia, Nanyang Technological University

Qu Feng, Nanyang Technological University

Yu Qin, National University of Singapore

Akshar Saxena, Nanyang Technological University

Laura Guiying Wu, Nanyang Technological University

Jubo Yan, Nanyang Technological University

Conference Coordinator

Jiahua Zhu