Symposium Synopsis

Symposium Synopsis

A warm welcome to all participants! Thank you for joining us today.

As artificial intelligence reshapes Information Literacy in Medical Education, the Library Symposium 2026 invites you to reimagine how libraries guide ethical innovation and promote digital literacy.

Libraries Reimagined: Guiding Integrity and Literacy in the AI Era, hosted by the Sim Hoay Cheok – Sim Foundation Library at the Lee Kong Chian School of Medicine, is a half-day event bringing together educators, medical students, research experts, librarians, and information professionals to discuss the challenges and opportunities of AI in academia.

Information literacy now extends beyond evaluating sources to mastering AI tools, ethical data use, and critical engagement with generative technologies. The symposium highlights how libraries are integrating AI into teaching and research—from GEN-AI chatbots to intelligent search systems—enhancing learning while redefining authorship and integrity.
