

November 1, 2023, Nanyang Business School

Dear Colleagues,

We are writing to request your submission of papers for presentation and discussion at the 6th Asian Management Research Consortium (AMRC), scheduled to take place at Nanyang Business School in Singapore on April 26-27, 2024. This year's conference will be hosted at Nanyang Business School with Sam Park and Jason Shaw as conference co-chairs, Eugene Kang as macro track chair and Chan Kim Yin as micro track chair.

This event is an exclusive, "by invitation only" gathering with the primary objective of enhancing opportunities for receiving feedback on ongoing research. It is designed to serve the needs of fellow colleagues in Asian business schools who are actively involved in management research. In addition, doctoral students are encouraged to apply for a doctoral consortium scheduled on the first morning of the program.

We welcome papers:

- at various stages of development, and early-stage manuscripts are particularly welcome.
- from any area of management such as Entrepreneurship, International Business, Organizational Behaviour and Strategy.
- using any methodology, such as large sample empirical analysis, qualitative research, experiments, and modelling.

Please specify whether your paper aligns better with the micro-track, which consolidates papers primarily analyzing individual, team, and group-level issues, or the macro-track, which centers on organizational and strategic matters. The submission deadline is February 29th, 2024 at 9.30AM Singapore Time.

To encourage active audience participation in paper discussions, we kindly ask that submitted papers do not exceed 10 pages, excluding references.

Chosen papers will be presented in a format that maximizes the time available for discussion and feedback from assigned discussants drawn from participating schools. Please note that presenters of selected papers will be responsible for covering their own travel and accommodation expenses.

Submission instructions

Please e-mail your micro-track submissions to Chan Kim Yin <AKYChan@ntu.edu.sg> and macro-track submissions to Eugene Kang <ASLKang@ntu.edu.sg>

Further information about the conference event itself will be provided at a later date.
