

Dean's Distinguished Speaker Series

Public Lectures

Mimicking Finance

15 January 2026, Thursday, 6.30 pm to 9 pm SGT

LAUREN H. COHEN SPEAKER

---

Lauren Cohen is the L.E. Simmons Professor in the Finance & Entrepreneurial Management Units at Harvard Business School and a Research Associate at the National Bureau of Economic Research. He is an Editor of the Review of Financial Studies, along with being a past Editor of Management Science, and serving on the editorial board of the Review of Asset Pricing Studies.

Professor Cohen teaches in the MBA Program, Executive Education Program, Doctoral Program, and Special Custom Programs at the Harvard Business School, teaching across Family Enterprise, Investment Management, and Innovation Course Offerings. In particular, he is the Faculty Co-Chair and Designer of the HBS Executive Education course 'Building a Legacy: Family Office Wealth Management,' designer of a first-of-its-kind MBA Course in Family Offices entitled 'How to Not Bankrupt Your Family,' and Faculty Co-Chair and Designer of the HarvardX Fintech course.

NANYANG
TECHNOLOGICAL UNIVERSITY
SINGAPORE

Nanyang Business School

Dean's Distinguished Speaker Series

Public Lectures

Mimicking Finance

15 January 2026, Thursday, 6.30 pm to 9 pm SGT

TIMOTHY TAY MODERATOR

---

Timothy Tay is the Head of Credit APAC at UBS Global Wealth Management Chief Investment Office in Singapore. Tim is responsible for the CIO's views and recommendations on corporate bonds in Asia. Tim was previously director and senior fixed income specialist at Coutts Private Bank in Singapore. Prior to Coutts, Tim worked at Barclays Capital where he was a senior credit analyst responsible for the coverage of Asia credits. He had also previously worked with Lehman Brothers in New York, where he was a member of the US Credit Research team focusing on the electric utility and power sectors.

Tim holds a Master of Business Administration degree in Finance from the University Of Chicago Booth School Of Business and a Bachelor degree in Business Studies from Nanyang Technological University in Singapore. He is a CFA charter holder.