NANYANG TECHNOLOGICAL UNIVERSITY (NTU)

A research-intensive public university, Nanyang Technological University, Singapore (NTU Singapore) has 33,500 undergraduate and postgraduate students in the colleges of Engineering, Business, Science, Humanities, Arts, & Social Sciences, and its Interdisciplinary Graduate School. It also has a medical school, the Lee Kong Chian School of Medicine, set up jointly with Imperial College London.

NTU is also home to world-class autonomous institutes – the National Institute of Education, S Rajaratnam School of International Studies, Earth Observatory of Singapore, and Singapore Centre for Environmental Life Sciences Engineering – and various leading research centres such as the Nanyang Environment & Water Research Institute (NEWRI) and Energy Research Institute @ NTU (ERI@N).

Ranked 11th in the world, NTU is top in Asia and has been placed the world's top young university for the past four years. The University's main campus is frequently listed among the Top 15 most beautiful university campuses in the world and has received 57 Green Mark awards (equivalent to LEED-certified), of which 54 are Green Mark Platinum. NTU also has a campus in Novena, Singapore's medical district.

NANYANG CENTRE FOR PUBLIC ADMINISTRATION (NCPA)

Nanyang Centre for Public Administration (NCPA) at Nanyang Technological University is Singapore's leading institution that provides public governance and administration training programmes for regional and international organisations.

The Centre serves as a premier training institution that promotes good governance and public services, facilitates knowledge exchanges, and strengthens cooperation between governments across the world.

Among its alumni, many are holding decision-making positions on all levels of government in their countries, including ministerial-level leaders, mayors and heads of organisations. Students come from all over China and from other nations such as Vietnam, Myanmar, Malaysia, Philippines, Laos, Thailand, Cambodia and Ukraine.

NCPA offers graduate degree programmes and executive development programmes to nurture and prepare students for professional, managerial and leadership positions and careers in government and public agencies. Its two Chinese Master's degree programmes were honoured with the 2011 Business China Enterprise Award for its effort to foster strong bilateral ties between Singapore and China.

With support from the Lien Foundation, Singapore's philanthropy organisation, NCPA conducts and facilitates interdisciplinary fellowship and research programmes focusing on public administration, economic policies, environmental issues, health care and social welfare policies, as well as economic development. The Lien Ying Chow Legacy Fellowship was accorded the Business China Enterprise Award, an award to honour those who have contributed much to deepen relations between the two countries, on July 2017.

EXECUTIVE DEVELOPMENT PROGRAMME (EDP)

Established since 1992, NCPA started with offering executive development programmes to senior government officials from China. Since then, we have trained more than 12,000 leaders and professionals from other regions' central government organizations, namely Vietnam, Myanmar, Cambodia, Malaysia, Philippines, Thailand, Laos and Ukraine.

NCPA's Executive Development Programmes can be customized to serve the needs and objectives of our client's organization; while providing the best learning experience. The 2-week customized programmes are conducted by highly qualified individuals from their respective fields.

EDP emphasize on practicality and applicability, drawing from various success stories of Singapore's policy making and administration; this includes learning beyond the walls of the classroom as site visits to various relevant government and corporate organizations are part of the curriculum.

Key Focus of Training:

- Urban Planning and Development
- Public Governance in Singapore
- Higher Education Management

ALUMNI OF NTU

Be part of NTU's alumni and network with other alumnus from all over the world. Get invited to exclusive networking events for past EDP graduates, organized by NCPA in your own country.

Expect enriching site visits to various relevant government and corporate organizations as part of the curriculum, according to your training needs; and experience Singapore from multiple perspective. Such visits include places as the Parliament of Singapore, Housing Development Board, Corrupt Practices Investigation Bureau and so forth.

Testimonials:

A CREDIBLE PROGRAM

We face the challenges of globalization, rapid technology advances and urbanization. The Executive Development Program of Nanyang Centre of Public Administration has found success in addressing this urgent need to overcome the challenges. Through its Executive Development Program, public sector officials from developing countries are exposed to other country experiences, especially the Singapore experience, best practices, and pro-active governance strategies.

My colleagues and I have benefitted from the Executive Development Program and have since applied our learnings to craft and implement development strategies. While cognizant of the customary caution that no one size fits all, we are confident that the development models and principles that we have studied find credibility and practical applicability in the amazing success of what is now Singapore.

Indeed, the Executive Development Program leads the way in demonstrating that excellence in public service is a reality.

Aileen Anunciacion R. Zosa

Executive Vice President, Base Conversion and Development Authority, Republic of the Philippines

Testimonials:

Executive Development Program of NCPA provided insightful learning environment of international standard to our quite senior officials of Cambodia government. The lessons and experiences sharing and gaining from the programs have now been benchmarked and utilized actively in the Cambodia context, for example housing development and urbanization model. To summarize this Executive Development Program provided influential knowledge and experience for us to deal with new development issues and challenges at present and the future.
