In my stint with Gardens by the Bay (GB), I underwent various experiences and was exposed to perspectives that are valuable to my future as an educator.

I was given the chance to explore different scopes of work, such as creating content, leading tours, liaising with facilitators and observing programmes.

While giving virtual tours and observing on-site school programmes, I witnessed a multitude of teaching styles and how different students reacted differently. This has given me a better idea of how the classroom might look.

I am grateful to have experienced and enjoyed an internship at GB.

During my internship at Mandai Wildlife Group, I had the opportunity to develop a digital Malay Language Resource tailored for special educational needs students. I designed a game that incorporated animal ambassadors from the zoo to facilitate language learning, allowing me to translate theoretical knowledge and enrich my understanding of Malay Language and activity implementation.

Additionally, observing the Education Department staff during guided tours, event preparations, and workshops provided valuable insights into meticulous programme planning. The dedication I witnessed during this experience has fueled my personal growth and serves as inspiration for applying these lessons in my future teaching.
