

SEMESTER EXCHANGE

One of the things I was blessed to experience in Canada was the autumn and winter seasons. Realising how fleeting they are has taught me to live in the moment, to be grateful and find joy in the little things! To have caught a bigger glimpse of how great this world I live in is such a privilege and put into perspective how tiny my problems are in the greater scheme of life. Being a student in McGill University was eye-opening as my classmates were from all around the world, bringing fresh perspectives into the discussions, especially in my World Music class. This has brought my understanding of embracing cultural differences to a whole new level with all the diversity around me and I hope to bring this back into my classroom, to see differences as a strength!
