

SEMESTER EXCHANGE

My semester exchange allowed me to experience geography in an Irish and wider European context, where the historical context and politics differ from what I am used to at home. Being abroad also revealed how Singapore is perceived through a different lens. I learned from people of diverse cultures, perspectives and lived experiences, which broadened my worldview. Most memorably, I witnessed geographical landforms—like glacier-carved valleys—that I would never encounter in Singapore, making concepts from lectures feel real, tangible and unforgettable.

Janelle Ng, DMP student
Semester Exchange @ Trinity College Dublin, Ireland

