

SPORT SCIENCE & MANAGEMENT (SSM)

Student Life

Immerse in the vibrancy of the NIE community and participate in the myriad of clubs and activities SSM has to offer! The members of the Sport Science and Management (SSM) Society, serve as the bridge between students and staff members of the SSM programme.

Our goal as a society is to unite all SSM students under a shared identity, fostering a cohesive, passionate, and motivated community. The SSM Society strives to create a holistic university experience by promoting academic excellence, organising events that focus on fitness and wellness, and facilitating networking opportunities.

The society works closely with counterparts such as the PESS Club and SSM Alumni to promote a vibrant and active lifestyle at NIE.

Over the years, the SSM Society has organised the annual SSM Sports Day, a flagship event that brings together students from freshmen to seniors to participate in friendly yet competitive games. The event fosters camaraderie and promotes a sense of community within the SSM programme. This year, we aim to take it to the next level with the inaugural Intra-Sports Course Sports Day, dubbed Sports Course Play-offs 2025. This exciting event will not only bring SSM students together but also invite students from other sports-related programmes in ITEs and polytechnics, providing a unique opportunity to expand networks within the sporting community.

Additionally, the society takes an active role in working with the Transition Orientation Programme (TOP) Committee in welcoming new students into the SSM programme through the TOP. During this programme, freshmen are guided around NIE and NTU to familiarise themselves with the campus facilities. The TOP Committee also organises interactive and enjoyable activities to ensure freshmen feel welcomed, form friendships, and begin their SSM journey on a positive note.
