NIE Undergraduate Art Programme

The Visual Arts group offers students and in-service teachers quality preparation in the studies of visual arts and art education. We believe in the importance of immersing students in authentic arts practices, encouraging students to think and work as artists while helping students see the relationships between art practices and art education. A wide range of art courses, from traditional visual media to digital technologies, are carefully selected to provide students with an enriching art learning experience. Meanwhile, comprehensive art education courses prepare students to handle the demands and challenges in the classroom confidently as a professional teacher.

The courses in art and art education are taught in well-equipped studios and tutorial rooms. Students are also given opportunities to exhibit their works, visit museums and link their practices to the art classroom. Throughout the years in NIE, students are thoughtfully nurtured to develop their personal artistic practice and teaching philosophy in their journey to becoming an inspiring art educator.
